R. H. KNAPPEN

The writer is in receipt of a letter from a man in the air corps. At present he is stationed in a chunk of pretty bleak territory, and whether that influenced his writing or not I do not know. Anyway, whether he knew it or not, the missive struck a note of melancholy for which he can hardly be blamed.

There are thousands like him all over the country and in foreign lands—young fellows suddenly thrust into an environment for which they had no preparation. It is only natural that they succumb occasionally to the blues.

It was my lot, during the last war, to spend a winter far from home in a military academy, and I recall some pretty desperate moments. I also recollect that nothing dispelled gloom like a letter from home—a nice, long, newsy letter that really told what was what with the "gang"—who was going with who, and all that sort of thing.

We should all take stock of ourselves and see what our correspondence with service men adds up to. A desultory exchange of brief notes that fail to be newsworthy amounts to just about zero, and should not be allowed to clutter up the mail. You see what it could be like? Private Bill gets a letter, drifts off by himself to catch up on the dirt from home—and what has he got? "Dear Bill: There's nothing much doing around the old stand. Tom broke his arm and your girl friend ran off with a traveling salesman. Hoping you are the same, your old pal Joe."

Old pal my eye, says Private Bill to himself, if he can overcome his disappointment long enough to think about it at all. What Private Bill craves to know is how did Tom break his arm, and what kind of a heel was it that ran off with his girl friend, anyway. Happenings about town that seem unimportant to you assume proportions of considerable magnitude when viewed by the hungry eyes of Private Bill, and don't think you can get by simply by sending him the local paper. Of course, all the boys like to get the home town paper and read it from first column page one all the way through Lydia Pinkham. But a newspaper lacks the personal touch so important to a man indefinitely away from home. He wants to know the things the paper tells nothing about, and he is eager to know what you think about this or that situation.

That's a pretty good outline of the kind of letters service men like to receive, and there is no excuse for us not to write them. In fact, it's such a good outline—and an equally good idea—that I think I'll get busy on it myself.

Oh, one more thing—one letter won't do it. You've got to keep them shuttling or the entire strategy is lost.

Mrs. Muriel Wilson Jordan is spending a few weeks here with her mother, Mrs. Margaret Wilson of Parr avenue, following the birth of a son on May 20, who has been named Bruce Ora. In about two weeks they will return to their home in Brisbane.

PYROTECHNICS ARE OUT, SAYS F.C. JACK SCOTT

In April of this year Lieut.-Gen. John L. DeWitt, U.S.A., asked that action be taken in California, Oregon and Washington to prohibit the sale of fireworks for the duration of the war.

Under sections of the health and safety code, no one may use fireworks without a permit from local fire chiefs in those communities that do not strictly and explicitly prohibit their use.

Campbell's fire chief, J. B. Scott, received a communication from Governor Olson recently urging that this community take steps to comply with provisions of the code. Scott published a notice that there would be no permits issued in the limits of the local fire district for the sale or use of fireworks of any kind.

Declared Scott, "Violators will be waited upon by the constable of this township, and prosecutions will follow. To aid the war effort and avoid trouble with the army, let's all cooperate in this. If you see someone breaking the law, report him at once to me or to Constable Ethan Lanphear."

Clubbers Hear Reverend Farr

The Rev. Joyce Farr of the Eastlake, Oakland, Kiwanis club gave a very inspiring and far seeing talk, "Wreckers Cannot Beat the Builders," at the meeting of the Campbell club Tuesday. The subject dealt with the present conflict with reference to the post war period also.

He was introduced by his father-in-law, John R. Lynden.

Next week Arthur Free will address the club on "How, When and Why Japan Entered the Conflict." Herbert Shadle will preside at this program.

The club voted to send three boys to the Y.M.C.A. camp this summer, and plan later to send the whole Boy Scout group on a week-end outing.

Bond Pledge Returns Good

The figures for the bond pledge campaign are now about ready, as the work is fast coming to a close.

There were 2,792 pledges from 2,722 homes. The annual amount pledged is in excess of $280,000 per year, averaging about $102 per year per home pledged, and about 89.6 per cent homes pledged.

This unbelievable figure of almost ninety per cent of homes pledged speaks well for the splendid work of the captains and minute men. To achieve such splendid results meant many call-backs for every worker. I want to thank everyone for such a fine report from the Campbell High School district.

Jack Anderson Is Candidate For Reelection

Representative John Z. Anderson, in the Congress of the United States for the past four years, today announced from Washington, that he will be a candidate to succeed himself at the August 25th Primary election. He added he will seek both Democrat and Republican nominations.

In his announcement today Anderson explained it seemed now to be impossible for him to return home for a personal campaign, and appealed to the people of the Eighth Congressional District to carry on for him while he remains at his post in Washington. He said if it was possible for him to get home for a short time during the campaign, it certainly would not be under circumstances that would force him to sacrifice his duty for political work. He explained the House undoubtedly will be in almost continuous session, and he considers the Washington front one of the most important in the war, and said to shirk it for political endeavor would not be in keeping with what Americans have a right to expect of their representative in these critical times.

In his appeal for his constituents here to carry on during his absence, Anderson pointed briefly to his achievements since he became this districts member of Congress some four years ago. In a survey of every member of Congress by a nationally-known organization, he was

Federal Auto Tax Stamps Are On Sale

The July issue ($5.00) of motor vehicle stamps were placed on sale in post offices yesterday, June 10. This represents the tax for the ensuing year and will replace the present stamps now in use, which are good only to July 1.

The new ones are light red, numbered, and have space on the back for writing in the make of car, model, engine number, and state tag number.

It is suggested that purchasers keep their stamp numbers somewhere for reference in case of loss or theft.

Cambrian Has New Principal

The Cambrian school board elected teachers for 1942-43 Monday. Lloyd Seiler, who has been in charge of the McKinley school on McLaughlin avenue in East San Jose has been chosen to succeed Bernard Watson as principal.

Mrs. Virgil Greenley, who years, has accepted the same second grades, resigned to accompany her husband to Los Angeles, and Leila Merritt of the Auburn grammar school faculty, will take her place.

Increased enrollment has made possible the addition of another teacher, and Miss Elaine Johns, sister of Mrs. Stephen Merrill, who has been in the Berryessa school, will fill this position.

Bernard Watson, who has been principal for several was instructor of the first and position in the Saratoga elementary school for the coming year. He will teach classes in the eighth grade and have charge of the boys' physical education and wood work. There are six other teachers in the faculty.

Roy Emerson submitted his report of collections to April 20, 1942 of the Campbell Sanitary district assessments which showed only a 1½ per cent delinquency, which is an extremely good record.

P.G.E. TO HOLD JOBS FOR MEN IN THE SERVICE

All Pacific Gas and Electric company employees who serve in any branch of the armed forces are assured of jobs in the company when the war ends, with all their rights preserved.

P. M. Downing, vice president and general manager of the company, has announced that "the P.G. & E. is doing everything that human foresight can conceive to provide for the rehabilitation after the war of all employees in the American forces — to give them jobs, to preserve their service and seniority rights, to safeguard plans for their eventual retirement with pay, to protect their future in other ways."

Vice President Downing made this declaration during the dedication of the P. G. & E. service flag, which now shows more than 850 employees in military service.

Concluded Downing, "We grant them leaves of absence to preserve their service and seniority rights and to safeguard their interests in the company's old-age retirement plan.

"We promise them employment when they return. Insofar as conditions will permit, we will reinstate them in their old positions. We tell those who temporarily fill their posts that they will have to step aside when the veterans come back."

Cambrian Graduation

Commencement exercises at Cambrian grammar school will be held this evening, June 11, at 7:30 o'clock in the school auditorium.

The story of our country will be narrated by members of the graduating class and it will be correlated with American art, literature, and music.

Also featured on the program will be an orchestra composed of the seven members of the school orchestra who are graduating, a cello solo by Lois Knopf, a saxaphone solo by Shirley Horton, and piano solo by Mervyn Nelson.

"Junk Into Music" Drive Extended

The "Junk into Music" campaign which the Men's Club of the Congregational church has conducted, is being extended to collect scrap rubber. Every tiny piece of rubber is now to be gathered up, in a nation wide effort. Donations may be left at the church and will be sold through the proper channels.

COMMITTEE INCREASES MEMBERSHIP

The camp and hospital committee of the local Red Cross, of which Mrs. Ralph Hyde has been representative, is enlarging its membership. M. E. Purmort, Mrs. Melissa Smith, Joe Agostinho and Mrs. Dorothy Lloyd are now serving with Mrs. Hyde and others may be added.

Another urgent appeal is being made for used articles to furnish five more day rooms for soldiers stationed in nearby posts. These day rooms are for leisure hours at the posts, where there is no place to spend them.

In many places there is a day room available, but no chairs, tables or other accessories to make it inviting for service men. If they want to make up a bridge foursome, in many cases, they have to sit on the floor and play on the floor.

Furniture need not be in absolutely first class shape. The committee has opened a salvage depot at 29 West Santa Clara street where furniture and other articles are being repaired before being taken to the camps. The furniture will be taken to the army camps by army trucks after being put in good condition. Chairs, tables, floor lamps, phonographs and records, radios, mirrors, cards, player piano rolls, games, and anything in the line of amusements for the boys are especially wanted. The committee is trying to get ping pong tables, and if these cannot be secured second hand will have them made if cash contributions are received for that purpose.

Mrs. Hyde reported such a gratifying return from her first request and the wonderful appreciation expressed by the service men where the articles were placed, that her committee hopes for more contributions, a truck load.

Contact any member of the committee regarding contributions of articles or money.

Pundita Circle Picnic June 10

Pundita Circle celebrated the last meeting of the year with a picnic on June 10 in the garden of Mrs. J. J. Pardee on Sunnyoaks avenue, with Mesdames L. B. Davidson, R. Y. Maxon, George Arnett and A. C. Andersen assisting.

After dinner the ladies sat in the garden and sewed on pieces for lap robes for convalescents, for the Red Cross.

Mrs. K. Robison gave a review of a pamphlet sent out from Washington, "The Soldier and His Recreation." A very pleasant afternoon was reported.

FLAG DAY

It can be with no ordinary feeling that Americans on June 14 pay tribute to the Stars and Stripes and to the nation for which it stands.

hard, but we have known our Valley Forges.

which all the nation's citizens pledge allegiance to the cause of freedom for which the flag stands, the self-same cause for which Americans today are fighting and giving their lives on distant battlefronts of the worldwide struggle against the organized forces of evil, tyranny and hate.

Because in so many ways he is the living symbol of our country's fighting faith and unconquerable will to victory, Flag Day ceremonies throughout the land this Sunday will pay special tribute to General Douglas MacArthur. It was this unconquerable will, this fighting faith in a just cause, that led a handful of woefully ill equipped colonies in 1776 to take up arms to win their independence. In '76 Tom Paine, speaking of that forward step in the march of human freedom, proclaimed the self-same goal that guides America's course today:

"It is the object only of war that makes it honorable. And if there was ever a just war since the world began, it is this in which America is now engaged . . . We fight not to enslave, but to set a country free, and to make room upon the earth for honest men to live in."

United in that aim today, America will not falter till the good fight is won. The way may be long and

Flag Day in 1942 is no mere holiday. It is a day on United under one flag, America will not let the enemy's wiles divide her people by bigotry and suspicion. Or by stirring up strife against any relgious, racial or economic group. True Americans will, on June 14, find heartfelt meaning in their pledge of allegiance to the flag "and to the republic for which it stands. One flag, one nation, one people, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

VACATION TIME—AND WAR

A cynic could make much of it:

Millions of American college and high school boys have spent years studying the ways of peace and justice and constructive service—and now, as school ends and vacation comes, the government announces a war registration of all boys of 18 and 19.

The stuff of irony, is it?

But the kids don't think so, and that is what counts. For the last year, in fact, vast numbers of them have eagerly volunteered for studies to prepare them for possible war service — aviation, motor engineering, military science. The boys see nothing ironic in preparing for peaceful pursuits, then turning suddenly to war. Circumstances changed; the boys haven't changed. They take life as it comes—unafraid and confident.

Boys, perhaps, are wiser than cynics.

IN MEMORY OF HARRY C. SMITH
June 15, 1937

You gave on the way a pleasant smile
And thought no more about it.
It cheered the life that was sad the while
That might have been wrecked without it.
And so for the smile and fruitage fair
You'll reap a crown—sometime, somewhere.

You spoke one day a cheering word
And passed to other duties;
It warmed a heart, new promise stirred,
And painted a life with beauties.
And so for the word and its silent prayer
You'll reap a palm—sometime, somewhere.

"VINEGAR JOE'S" COME-BACK

Can he take a beating without quitting? They all look good when they're winning. But how does he look coming up from the floor? Can he take it—and come back?

How Yank and Jab react, when the going gets tough, was shown starkly last week in phases of the Battle of the Pacific.

A Jap liner, the Nagasaki Maru, struck a mine and went down. Her captain committed suicide by hara-kiri. He couldn't take it—take the blame, the humiliation. He quit. That is honorable in Japan.

An American general, "Vinegar Joe" Stilwell of the brimstone vocabulary, staggered from Burma with the remnant of his defeated army. He offered no alibi. He simply announced a come-back. "We got a hell of a beating," he said. "We got run out of Burma and it is humiliating. The Chinese soldier is a damned good soldier. If we go back properly proportioned and properly equipped, we can throw those Japs the hell out of there."

The outcome of a war between two such people is inevitable. For when the tide turns—when reinforced and rearmed Americans really get set to dish out "a hell of a beating" to the entire Japanese nation—Jap leaders will go in for hara-kiri wholesale, no doubt, and the nation will commit mental hara-kiri upon its bombastc ambition to crush America and build a world-dominating military empire.

The Way To A Soldier's Heart!

By BETTY BARCLAY

J — is for Jellies and Jams
A—is for Army camps and Appetites
M — suggests a Mixture of the two

Well, we homemakers don't want to miss an opportunity to keep our boys supplied with any of the homemade spreads that make them so happy. Army food is good, but a selection of jams and jellies made with sun-ripened fruits are always welcomed by hungry soldiers.

So now that fruits are in abundance . . . let's remember both our soldier and our family at home. Modern recipes always assure us of a perfect product and they save both time and energy. Each tested recipe turns out jellies with a half-minute boil and jams in only a minute or so. Every batch of fruit means half again more glasses and the rich flavor of fully ripe fruit. Try these today!

RIPE PEACH AND PLUM JELLY
(Makes about 7 medium glasses)
3 cups juice
4 cups sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin

To prepare juice, cut in pieces (do not peel or pit) and crush about 2 pounds fully ripe peaches and 1 pound fully ripe plums. Add ¾ cup water, bring to a boil, and simmer, covered, 10 minutes. Place fruit in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. (If there is a slight shortage of juice, add small amount of water to pulp in jelly cloth and squeeze again.)

Measure sugar into dry dish and set aside until needed. Measure juice into a 3- to 4-quart saucepan.

Place over hottest fire. Add powdered fruit pectin, mix well, and continue stirring until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once pour in sugar, stirring constantly. Continue stirring, bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard ½ minute.

Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once.

RIPE PLUM MARMALADE
3 cups prepared fruit
5 cups sugar
½ bottle fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, peel off yellow rind of 1 medium orange and 1 medium lemon with sharp knife, leaving as much of white part on fruit as possible. Put yellow rinds through food chopper; add ½ cup water and 1/16 teaspoon soda, bring to a boil, cover, and simmer 10 minutes. Cut off tight skin of peeled fruit and slip pulp out of each section. Add pulp and juice to cooked rind and simmer, covered, 20 minutes longer. Pit (do not peel) about 1¼ pounds fully ripe plums. Cut in small pieces, grind or chop fine, and combine with orange mixture.

Measure sugar and prepared fruit into large kettle, filling up last cup with water if necessary. Mix well.

Bring to a boil and boil gently 5 minutes. Stir constantly before and while boiling.

Remove from fire and stir in bottled fruit pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for just 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly. Paraffin hot marmalade at once. Makes about 8 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

Archibald E. Brydon, a native of England, was admitted to citizenship this week in a class of aliens that completed their naturalization.

Lewis Frank Manaco, 22, of Camp San Luis Obispo and Sarah Marie Mancuso, 22, of Campbell have applied for a marriage license.

CONGRESSMAN ANDERSON WRITES HOME

JOHN Z. ANDERSON
8TH DIST. CALIFORNIA

Congress of the United States
House of Representatives
Washington, D. C.

June 2, 1942

To My Friends In The Eighth Congressional District:

It is not necessary for me to remind you we are at war, and in view of this fact everyone is expected to do the utmost to help achieve victory at the earliest possible date.

In keeping with this principle the Congress has been in session ever since that fateful December 7, when an apparently friendly nation turned traitorously to aggression and sought to rob us of everything that has made America great. What has happened since, is more or less history, but none will deny the need for vigilance on every front.

August 25 you in my district will elect your representative in Congress. For the past four years I have been your representative, and it has given me honor, privilege and pleasure to serve you here. During the coming months a campaign will be waged for the post I hold, and nothing would give me greater pleasure than to come home and meet with all of you once again. However, if I am to be loyal to you and to the United States I cannot leave my post to make a campaign among you, because if I did I would be sacrificing the very principles for which we are fighting.

So, I must rely upon you at home to carry on for me during this campaign, because whether I win or lose, I cannot in all sincerity place politics before patriotism and duty, and the trust you have placed in me in guarding your freedom and liberty is too great to sacrifice for political ambition. Politically speaking this may seem a foolhardy decision, but whatever it seems from a political standpoint, I believe it is the thing you have the right to expect me to do. We are faced with the salvation of those principles which include your right to have in the Congress the representative of your own choosing.

So, unless there is some now unforeseen opportunity, I must leave my campaign and my re-election as your representative here to those of you who believe with me that this is no time to sacrifice duty to political endeavor. In doing so I am not afraid, because in my heart I am convinced where my duty lies, and I know that you, my good American friends, agree with me. Whatever the outcome I will always be grateful for this opportunity you have given me to serve.

My deep appreciation and profound gratitude for the high trust you have reposed in me, and, believe me, your wellbeing and your interests shall ever be my first consideration, whether I be your representative in Congress, or just your neighbor in the Eighth Congressional district.

Very sincerely yours,

John Z. Anderson

THE BOOK MARK

by marty

Islandia, by Austin Tappan Wright.

In a few short paragraphs I will attempt to give you a glimpse of what is in store for you when you take the time to journey to Austin Wright's "Islandia." This is a big book and the print is fine. However, the suspense is so compelling that the pages turn without so much as a mental knowledge of physical action.

The author died a tragic and untimely death in 1924. He was a brilliant professor of law at the University of California at Berkeley in the year 1919 and held that position until his death. It wasn't until 1935 that his wife brought to light the fact that he had left volumes of written material that she judged had value. She consulted a friend, Leonard Bacon, who saw their worth, and through his efforts and the efforts of the author's daughter, Sylvia, "Islandia," the imaginary land of Austin Wright's boyhood, became a reality, at least in the form of a book.

"Islandia" is a country that exists only in the imagination, yet the author has peopled it with real characters from our own world and has made it so real and possible that it is not a Utopia; it is a country with its own history, its towns, cities, and streets, its rivers and mountains, its customs, language, laws and politics—its faults and its virtues.

John Lang, the American consul to Islandia, gained his appointment to the consulate through his acquaintance with the first Islandian he had ever seen while attending Harvard in the year 1901. The Islandian's name was just plain Dorn, with no last name attached. Lang grew to know Dorn well and their acquaintance developed into a rare and enduring friendship. Dorn taught Lang the language of his Islandia, thus preparing him for his consulship.

The trip to the southern country of Islandia was a long, hot trip for the American consul. However, it was colorful and his anticipation and eagerness to reach his destination was keen. Once in the country of Islandia, Lang's duties as consul kept him on his toes. The political decisions that he was forced to make had a definite effect on his life and the lives of many others. There were three women in his love life—two natives of Islandia and the American girl he left behind. Dorn, his ever devoted friend and companion, advised him against falling in love with a girl of Islandia.

Ambassadors, representing almost every country on the globe are to be found in Islandia, crossing the path of John Lang, the American Consul. It is so real that when you have finished reading about it you will find it hard to believe that there is "none such" country. But you will wish very ardently that it could be true.

Enid Starr Bride Of Wm. de Diego

Miss Enid Alison Starr was married Sunday, May 31, to William de Diego, in a full church ceremony.

Mrs. de Diego is a daughter of Mrs. Lela Starr of San Jose, who for several years lived in Campbell.

Sisters of the bride, Miss Peggy Starr and Mrs. Dominic Navarra, were in the wedding party, and the reception was held at the home of another sister, Mrs. Stanley Lewis.

The twin sisters, Betty and Peggy Starr were members of the graduating class of 1936, Campbell Union High school.

For the first time in many months the Genasci family were all together again in Campbell for a day of visiting on Wednesday. Sgt. Melvin Genasci, of the Ordinance Company, U. S. A., Donald of California Polytechnic at San Luis Obispo and Ed Genasci, fire chief at Sherwood Field were here to be with Nadine Genasci and Mr. and Mrs. Luis Genasci.

The Misses Helen Buck, Dorothy Merriman and Katherine Pinoris, of the Campbell Grammar school faculty, and Miss Pinoris' sister, will leave tomorrow for a two weeks vacation in Yosemite. They plan on some extensive horse back riding and hiking as part of their outing.

Charles Augustus Short, son of Mrs. Esther M. Short of Alice avenue, is graduating from Northwestern University Saturday, June 13, where he will receive the degree of Bachelor of Science in medicine. Mrs. Short left the first of the week for Evanston, Ill., to attend the commencement exercises, and upon returning to California will attend summer school.

St. Lucy's Club Closes Session

A meeting of St. Lucy's club of Campbell Thursday afternoon, June 4, marked the close of the current session. The new president, Mrs. Fred H. Smith, presided, the installation of officers having taken place at the last meeting in May.

General business was disposed of and committees named for the coming year, after which delicious refreshments were served.

Sewing on woolen blankets for disabled service men was completed, and a number delivered to the Red Cross.

Miss Lois Bohnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Bohnett of Campbell, was recently elected treasurer for the San Jose State college honorary mathematics society chapter, Gamma Pi Epsilon. Miss Bohnett is a sophomore mathematics major.

Mrs. Oliver Jensen and daughter left Friday to join Mr. Jensen and are living in La Jolla.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Parker, nee Helen Robinson, are here from New Orleans visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Robinson, and his parents in Salinas. The Parkers went to New Orleans last September where he continued his medical studies. Further Restrictions on Telephone Installations Are Necessary to Save Materials Vital to the War

The latest War Production Board Order further restricts the use by telephone companies of materials essential to the war effort. It restricts the building of cable or wire lines for the installation of new telephones, both business and residence, if more than a minimum of construction is involved — except for service necessary in the war effort or for public health, welfare and safety. It requires much wider use of party-line service.

The reason for these restrictions is to save additional quantities of critical materials used in providing telephone service—such as copper, aluminum, tin, steel, magnesium, zinc, nickel. These materials are urgently needed for the Nation's planes, tanks, guns, ships, munitions. They are VITAL TO VICTORY.

To install one extension telephone may require no more than 30 or 40 feet of copper wire, but to install thousands of them takes enough copper to wire a fleet of bombers.

The immediate effect of these restrictions upon the public will vary in different localities, depending upon what, if any, facilities are available. If you should be unable to secure the service you want, we know you will understand why. The temporary sacrifice of your personal convenience will make a worth while contribution to VICTORY—it is a real part of the price of protecting LIBERTY.

Always A Business Man

By IRVIN S. COBB

THERE used to be a man in New York's East Side who had a friend who, back in the early part of 1915, arrived from Russia with a tale of having served as color-bearer in a Russian regiment in the campaign against the Germans in Eastern Prussia.

When the newcomer reached the congenial atmosphere of a Yiddish cafe on Allen Street he wore a large medal on his breast, which he explained had been given to him by the express command of the Czar. Shortly after receiving the decoration he had been disabled by illness and was mustered out of service; hence his appearance in America.

"What did you do to win the medal?" inquired one of his audience.

"I brought in a German battle flag," said the ex-soldier with becoming honesty.

"No wonder you got a medal!" said a resident East Sider. "How did you get the flag?"

"Well," said the hero, "I was in the Russian trenches with my regiment, and in the trenches just in front of us was a German regiment; and I saw the man who was carrying their battle flag, and he looked like a good business man. So I waited that evening until everything was quiet and then I went over, all by myself, when nobody was looking—and we traded flags."

WHAT TO DO IN A GAS ATTACK

(This has been approved by the Medical Division of the United States Office of Civilian Defense)

1. Serious injury may result from exposure to liquid gas which may fall from airplanes. It is, therefore, imperative to remain indoors and keep the windows closed.
2. War gases are heavier than air. If you are inside a building remain there, and, if possible, go upstairs. Do not complicate the military effort by leaving your house unless circumstances make it absolutely necessary. If you are outside and not able to immediately go indoors, walk—do not run—get out of the gas area. Avoid puddles of liquid gas, basements, valleys and other low places.
3. If the windows of your room are broken, go to another room, or get out of the building.
4. If you have been exposed to a war gas—
   a. Breathe through cloths wet with baking soda solution.
   b. If you can go inside a building, do so, but first remove your outer clothing and leave it outside.
   c. Wash your hands and then your face with laundry soap and water.
   d. Wash your eyes at once with a large amount of a solution of baking soda; one teaspoon of baking soda in a glass of water.
   e. Take a bath using plenty of laundry soap.
   f. Wash your eyes again with baking soda solution.
5. If splashes of liquid have gotten on you—
   a. Using small pieces of cloth, cleansing tissue or toilet paper, blot up as much of the liquid as you can, being careful not to spread it.
   b. Daub the contaminated area with cloths wet with Clorox, Purex, Sani-Clor, etc.
   c. Steps b, c, d, e, and f in 4 above.
6. Do not get excited. Lie down and cover yourself with a blanket. Your Air Raid Warden will summon medical aid.

There is no immediate serious danger from exposure to any known war gas if you follow these simple rules.

WHAT TO DO IN AN AIR RAID

(This has been approved by the Civilian Protection Division of the United States Office of Civilian Defense)

1. In ANY air raid or blackout, take cover immediately.
   a. If you are away from home, get off the street. You are ten times safer in a building than standing or walking on the street. If you are in a car, pull to the side of the road immediately. Do not double park. Keep clear of fire plugs. Get out of the car, bus or street car, and take shelter.
   b. If you are at home, take immediate blackout precautions. Extinguish all lights. Have your fire protection equipment ready. Go to your blackout room, it should be the safest room in your home. Stay away from windows. Bomb explosions shatter glass for considerable distances.
2. Don't use the telephone. Remember those persons who have been trained to protect you—the air raid warden, fire watchers,' auxiliary firemen, auxiliary police and many others must be able to get really important messages through. Your personal calls have got to wait until after the all clear signal.
3. If you are caught in the open lie down on your stomach. You are twice as safe lying down as standing up.
4. If incendiary bombs fall, play a coarse spray of water on them. Put out fires started by the incendiaries first, then devote your attention to the bomb. The coarse spray of water burns the bomb up faster. A heavy jet, stream or bucket of water will make the bomb explode. If you have no way of treating the bomb with water, cover it with dry sand. Then with a blunt-nosed shovel scoop the bomb onto a pile of sand, dump the sand and bomb into a pail and take it outside.
5. Remember, Obey your air raid warden and other members of the United States Citizens Defense Corps. They are trying to help you.
6. Above all—keep cool—stay home—put out lights—take shelter—lie down—stay away from windows. .

Jack Anderson

honored with an average of 100 per cent right on every effort designed to bring victory to America in the war.

Anderson declared he considered one of his greatest victories the movement to launch the development of guayule rubber production in his district and points out that had a more kindly ear been given his proposal when he first offered it some two years ago, the critical rubber problem of today could have been greatly eased.

Another of the measures he sponsored and cites as imperative to national defense is the federalized home defense. Back in 1940, he declares, he fought to have this measure accepted, but was stymied. He claims such an organization now could be relieving thousands of younger men for duty with the combat forces.

As a member of the House Naval Affairs committee, Anderson has been active in the building of American naval strength. He has carried out many missions in this capacity to naval outposts, and can point to the fact that he advocated, strongly, the fortification of Guam, which because it wasn't is now held by the Japanese. The records show he waged a valiant fight when we were selling millions of tons of scrap iron to Japan to stop this export and have the material impounded for home uses.

In the field of labor operations, Anderson declared he believed in fair and just treatment of labor, and every opportunity for its advancement. The securing of the $16,600,000 laboratory at Moffett Field, the cadet training school at Coyote Point in San Mateo county, the Naval airport in Hollister, funds for the study of flood control in his district are some of the other achievements attributed to Anderson, whose work in Congress has won him high praise from prominent residents of the district, regardless of political faith.

In closing Anderson expressed pride in his record in Congress, and said that always his vote on every issue was motivated by what he believed to be the very best interests of the entire nation, and his district. He paid tribute to the thousands of letters he has received from constituents, and said he had endeavored to answer each personally. "I believe," Anderson explained, "that the representative in Congress, who best represents the interests of his people back home, is the representative who keps in close touch with them. I always have done so, and I always will."

W. H. Van Dyke. W. M.
T. A. Robinson, Secretary

THERE are not going to be any more appliances manufactured for home use for an indefinite period. So we are going to be a lot more careful in the use of all things we own and we must keep in good repair, all of the mechanized equipment used on the Home Front. In the past, we could always buy new and better and more efficient equipment. BUT NOT now! That is not for the duration.

We must—all of us in the U. S. A.—Duration-ize our home appliances with timely repair. It is a wartime necessity. So to meet this necessity, this Company, and the manufacturers, and the dealers from whom you bought your appliances, have set up a service of repair. It means a check-up service to improve the operation efficiency of the household appliances. It means a repair service with factory-made replacement parts to restore appliances to efficient low-cost operation.

Take a look at your appliances today. Will they see you through the war? You will be wise to Duration-ize with timely repair.
